MR. WILSON'S POSITION

Ambassador Bey Knocks Props from Under President's Argument that Deal Would Guarantee Peace.

A lively diplomatic controversy has been precipitated by the decision of the Wilson administration to urge the sale of the antiquated battleships Idaho and Mississippi to the Grecian government. Interest in the proposed sale lies in the tension now existing between Turkey naval attache. In reality, he laid be-fore the President the arguments of his government for the immediate consumnation of the sale of the two battleships.

Turkey Voices Protest. Hardly had the Greek charge departed Turkish Ambassador, Rustem Bey, who called with his predecessor. Ambassador Pacha, to present his credentials. Am-bassador Bey accompanied his creden-tials with an emphatic protest on the part of the Turkish government against

Earlier in the day the President had decisions of great importance to the admitted to callers that he had approved railroads and the business interests of the amendment to which they originally had not given even lukewarm endorse-ment. As a result, it is anticipated thas unless the administration withdraws its influence, the amendment will be approved in the House when the Naval bill comes back from conference today.

The President admitted he had approved the recommendation for the sale Representatives Collier and Sisson with the understanding that the acquirement of the fighting vessels by Greece would encourage peace. He did not amplify this statement but, it was under-stood that he believed Turkey would be less inclined to go to war with Greece over the Albanian twouble, were the Greek navy to be strengthened by the Idaho and Mississippi.

Argument of Greece.

This is the argument which has been merce Commission. This is a blow at the urged upon the American government by Greece. The Turkish navy revently has been reinforced by the purchase of two modern battleships now under construction in England for Brazil. For this reason the Greek charge has argued that the cause of peace would be best subserved by strengthening the Greek navy to such an extent that Turkey would not feel so confident.
